PRE NOTE

IASTAM Award Function 2020 & Conclave

Dr. Narendra Bhatt

Event

As informed in the 40th Year of IASTAM, the 11th and 6th in a row, IASTAM Oration and Award Function – 2020 will be held from 11th - 12th January, 2020. As per IASTAM tradition, a Conclave will also be held along with the Award function on 'MEANINGFUL MODALITIES FOR TRANSLATIONAL RESEARCH' under the aegis of Maharashtra University of Health Sciences (MUHS), the multidisciplinary university in association with School of Ayurved, D. Y. Patil Deemed to be University (DYP), at its campus in Navi Mumbai. It will be after a long time that IASTAM will organise an event in Mumbai, to celebrate its 40th year.

Orators

Dr. Jorge Luis Berra, Director of Foundation de Salud Ayurveda Prema, Argentina will deliver the next, 11th 'Pandit Shiv Sharma Oration for Propagation of Ayurveda'.

The 6th 'IASTAM Zandu International Oration for Research Contributions to Natural Products' (Non-Indian) will be delivered by Prof. Dr. DeAn Guo, Chair Professor and Director, Shanghai Research Center for TCM Modernization, China.

Dr. Muhhamed Majeed, Founder and Chairman, The Sami-Sabinsa Group of Companies, Bengaluru will deliver the 7th 'IASTAM Zandu International Oration For Research Contributions to Natural Products'.

The other nine Awardees representing their fields of excellence will participate at the event to share their valuable experience.

Conclave

The Conclave intends to deliberate on Translational Research to define it as relevant to AYUSH Systems and to try to evolve a roadmap. The efforts will be to develop specific activities for Translational Research within the Indian and AYUSH context in the university and academic setup.

Dr. S. S. Savrikar, our staunch supporter and former awardee persuaded us to have the discussions. It was nice to meet the Vice Chancellor of MUHS, Dr. Deelip Mhaisekar and Registrar, Dr. Kalidas Chavan who encouraged and supported the whole idea. It is a pleasure to be associated with Dr. Mahesh Harit, Dean and Professor, School of Ayurved, DYP. Planning and details of organizing the event are being finalized. We look forward to a promising event.

Those involved with research in the field of AYUSH and Natural products will be benefitted with the participation. We will ensure that those undertaking research can get an AYUSH perspective.

Key Speakers

Apart from IASTAM Awardees 2020, the best of the experts in the field have confirmed their participation as keynote address speakers and panelists. The confirmed speakers are Dr. Antonio Morandi, Chairman & Director, School of Ayurvedic Medicine, "Ayurvedic Point", Italy; Dr. Ashok Vaidya, Research Director at Medical Research Centre, Kasturba Health Society, Mumbai; Mr. Reinhard Boegle, Yoga Forum Munchen, Germany; Mr. Herbert Schwabl, PADMA, Zurich; Dr. C. K. Katiyar, CEO (Technical Healthcare), Emami Ltd, Kolkatta; Dr. Pulok Mukherjee, Director, School of Natural Product Studies, Jadavpur University, Kolkata and such others. I will also be sharing my views. Efforts are on to reach out to other experts to provide scholarly content with productive outcomes.

Presentations of Papers

Post Graduate scholars and faculty from all the different medical systems are invited to share their research outcomes.

Do take this opportunity to express your views for better undertaking of productive research.

IASTAM Text – working Title - “Integrative Perspectives 2020: Ayurveda, (Phyto-Pharmaceuticals) Natural Products and Yoga”.

I am truly happy to inform all of you that 45 awardees have contributed their articles / papers. All have been edited for language and grammar and 38 for the content and have been sent to the author for their final approval. 20 completed manuscripts are in our hands. These are divided into 8 sections and will be streamlined with editorial inputs to provide an integrative outlook as a common objective.

We are in touch with a few publishers interested in the subject. All efforts are on for an early publication.

MEMORY

FEELING A VOID, WITH THE PASSING AWAY OF VAIDYA PUNARVASU AGNIHOTRI

The meaning of the word ‘void’ is realised only when the loss is experienced at a very personal level. With the rather untimely loss of Vaidya Punarvasu Agnihotri a void has been created that will be difficult to fill.

I was acquainted with him in the early days as the son of a family friend, then as a student when I was teaching Kayachikitsa at Mittal Ayurvedic college and finally as a young man who was in search of new avenues, an associate in several activities and a reliable support in sharing a common vision. My association with Punarvasu could be summed up as emotional, gradual, evolving and growing. Right from the beginning it was built on trust and commitment to Ayurved.

I had a family association with him. His father Vaidya Girish Agnihotri was one of the closest and younger associates of my father in the activities of the Mumbai Vaidya Sabha. As a student he was unassuming but always had a curious eye. Upon graduating he joined his father at the Shankar Ayurvedic Pharmacy. Later he carried the twin responsibilities of both family and pharmacy on his young shoulders. Through thick and thin he managed both well, slowly yet steadily, shifting from Mumbai to Gujarat and anchoring it for progress.

Punarvasu would regularly meet me both at Zandu and in my clinic not only to sell products but also to share happenings and views. That was the beginning of our bond. As secretary general of ADMA when I was persuading Shri Vithalbhai Ukani for a state level affiliate he convinced us of GAAMA, not as a competing group but as a supportive organization. Our association grew stronger and entered a new phase. Since then he extended full support to ADMA and to me in person. The organization of the 2nd and 3rd ADMA Meets in Delhi had the active participation of the Gujarat Ayurvedic industry. He not only brought the Ayurvedic manufacturers of the state together under GAAMA but established good links with both Maharashtra as a state and with ADMA at the national level. He worked efficiently in providing a platform for collective discussions and helped to give a voice to industry at state level. The Ayurvedic industry of Gujarat shall remain indebted to him for all his contributions.

When GAAMA was chosen as one of main organizations to help organize the Ayurved Summit in Gandhinagar that Chief Minister Modi wanted, prior to the elections for becoming the Prime Minister, he sought my guidance.

We worked closely with a one-point agenda-that of betterment of the sector. I observed his functioning and organisation. Punarvasu managed differences, cross views, understood the psyche of the businessmen, got them to agree to common ideas and strengthened the structure. This was his forte.

After the Gujarat meet the issues related with industry became reasons for our frequent meetings. I could share my vision with him and his colleagues at GAAMA. We had meetings with several BJP leaders and made presentations with action plans to the then Finance Minister of Gujarat - Shri. Saurabh Patel and the Health Minister, Shri Nitin Patel. GAAMA link with Gujarat State FDA was uniquely positive for the sector. We shared our concerns about the lack of collective attitude of the ayurvedic industry and the resistance to change. He understood the business psyche of the industry.

In addition to regular meets that were organized by him, I was directly involved at GAAMA Workshops on 'Ayurvedic Industry: Challenges for Growth', On 'Goods & Service Tax – GST', on 'Drugs & Magic Remedies Act'. I enjoyed sharing my experiences at an exclusive seminar organized in Ahmedabad on 'Advertising ASU Products: The Right Way' and 'Business Revitalisation: The Ayurved Way'.

Shankar Ayurvedic pharmacy was the brainchild of Vaidya Girishbhai. Vaidya Punarvasu not only nurtured it but also ably brought it to a new level, by expanding the business. I expressed my concerns when he decided to venture into the challenging O T C marketing sphere. The man of baby steps had decided to take a big leap; putting all efforts into it so that he would succeed. That did bring in its wake a much wider identity for Shankar and substantially increased its reach beyond Gujarat and Mumbai. Till his last days he was involved and concerned about its future.

Vaidya Agnihotri was amongst the earliest group of IASTAM life members that I had enrolled. He was a regular attendee at practically all IASTAM events. His association with me also saw him get more involved with IASTAM activities. Right from the early days, he used to travel every time from Gujarat for meetings of the managing committee that were held at Zandu in Mumbai and later in Pune. He encouraged the idea of the IASTAM Award function in the other states at Gujarat Ayurved University. He accompanied me and helped coordinate all the visits and the event at Jamnagar, driving along with me several times. He helped persuade sponsorship of awards as for Rasashastra through Shri Prabodhbhai Shah. At ICAAM in Pune his whole hearted involvement was obvious. The Gujarat initiative continued in the following years where he actively participated at most events with colleagues from GAAMA.

Punarvasi was the current Vice president of IASTAM. I had started relying on him as one of the next pillars of IASTAM. There were many items on our agenda to attend to for Ayurved and particularly for the industry. The loss of Punarvasu is an emptiness that I feel both at a personal level and at Ayurvedic sectoral level that will be very difficult to fill.

There are people who work quietly without making too much noise; they contribute to the growth of people around them, to society and to the sector to which they belong. Vaidya Punarvasu was one such individual who gave a strong meaning to his life. May God give his family and us the strength to fill the void.
